SHERMAN'S ATTACK ON VICKSBURG.—A letter from Helena, to the New York Tribune, of the 31st of December, gives some particulars of Sherman's unsuccessful attack on Vicksburg. As there has never been any satisfactory account of it published on the Pacific, we give the subjoined account of the preliminary operations, hoping to hereafter get the details of the entire transaction.

The dispatch boat Rocket has just arrived from Vicksburg, and brings intelligence of the commencement of a great battle between General Sherman's forces and the rebels in the rear of Vicksburg. General Sherman's fleet went up the Yazoo river and landed his troops at a convenient point, whence they marched to the rear of Vicksburg and commenced an attack on last Saturday, the 27th inst. The first day's battle consisted of cannonading and shelling the rebels in their intrenchments, with no decisive results. At night the two armies lay on their arms and renewed the conflict on Sunday morning. Of the killed and wounded we have as yet no account, except that the loss was small on our side. The strength of our army under Sherman is about 40,000, and that of the rebels is estimated at from 30,000 to 50,000, though with no approach toward accuracy. The latter estimate is, of course, mere guess-work.

On Sunday morning, as the Rocket left, the noise of battle was distinctly heard on board. Loud cannonading and the shouts of regiments charging upon the enemy filled the air. The spirit of our army was admirable, with full confidence in ultimate victory. But the contest will be hot and severe, as the rebels have every advantage in position and in fighting behind intrenchments.

The gunboat fleet, it is supposed, cannot render very important aid. Several of them were engaged with the upper batteries and fortifications of the enemy.

On the Yazoo river a portion of the fleet is also engaged with a powerful rebel battery about twenty miles above the mouth, where the Cairo was sunk a few weeks ago by a torpedo. In this engagement the gunboat Benton had suffered severely, and Captain Gwin, the commander, is reported mortally wounded. Fifteen shots from the battery had penetrated the Benton, and twelve men were killed by the same shell from which Captain Gwin received his death wound. This latter statement is founded more upon rumor than positive information, and I trust it may turn out, after all, that Captain Gwin is simply wounded. He has the reputation of being a brave and excellent officer.

On last Saturday the steamer Blue Wing left here, having two coal boats in tow, [illegible] with coal, a large mail on board, and one hundred and twenty boxes of ordnance stores, together with equipments for two batteries, on her way to General Sherman's army. On reaching a point a short distance below Napoleon she was fired into by a battery of six cannon from the Arkansas shore, and compelled to round to and submit to a capture. She was afterwards taken by the rebels up the Arkansas river toward Little Rock. Noyes, Special Agent of the Post Office Department, was on board, in charge of seventeen mail bags for our army at Vicksburg, and is a prisoner.

The boat left here without an escort or any troops on board, with instructions not to land, on the supposition that she would be able to run the guantlet of all attacks from the shore. This has proved a sad mistake, and will prove a profitable lesson for the future.

Last night, Major General McClernand arrived here on the steamer Tigress, with the ram Lancaster, from Memphis. They are now about leaving our landing for Vicksburg, prepared to attack and silence the battery that captured the Blue Wing, as they go down. A large mail is on board that boat for General Sherman's and General Steele's divisions of the army. Many a poor fellow, to whom letters are on the way from home and friends, will doubtless be sleeping "the sleep that knows no waking" before they reach him.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY

No flag but the Old Flag—the Red, White and Blue,
With the stars of a Union unbroken and true!
Arise and defend it ! ye sons of the brave
Whose blood bought the banner your valor must save

MONDAY MORNING, FEB. 16, 1863.

The Napoleonic Method Revived.

The newspaper press has had much to say lately of the failure of Gen. Burnside's new method of dashing troops against the enemy's defences, and generally advocate a return to "strategy" as the preferable method of subduing the enemy. When Gen. McClellan failed on the Peninsula, strategy was for the time laid upon the shelf, and the same men who now condemn dash and go-ahead-itiveness were then wild in their demands for an instant advance on Richmond. Gen. Burnside's Fredericksburg disaster again changed their note. The fact is, that men who have not been engaged in battle, are utterly incapable of forming a correct opinion of the merits of a transaction, which calls in play faculties and passions of whose force and direction they have never had any experience.

Marmont said that it was not the number of men that was killed that decided a battle, but the number who got scared. Montalembert says that earth-works must be stormed, and that when the fire of fortifications is reduced to the minimum the attack ought to be made, and, if numbers favor the besiegers, persisted in until successful.

It is a proven fact that the chances were infinitely in favor of Burnside's success if he had continued his attack on the day after his repulse at Fredericksburg; and he had not even taken the precaution to cannonade the enemy's lines. He desisted because the strategists advised it, contrary to his better judgment. He is also blamed for not having added the incentive of his own personal presence to the valor of the soldiers. In this particular it is justly claimed Gen. Rosekrans has shown the true Napoleonic temper. Napoleon said that it was "the quarters of an hour" which changed the current of battles, and in order to take advantage of that short space of time it was necessary for the commanding general to expose his own person among his troops, so that he could see the auspicious moment when the battle was to be decided. Upon this point, the Great Captain remarks:

"In all battles a moment occurs when the bravest troops, after having made the greatest efforts, feel inclined to run. That terror proceeds from a want of confidence in their own courage; and it only requires a slight opportunity, a pretence, to restore confidence to them. You see that two bodies which meet, and endeavor to frighten each other; a moment of panic occurs, and that moment must be turned to advantage. When a man has been present in many actions, he distinguishes that moment without difficulty; it is as easy as casting up addition."

It was at just such a moment as that which Napoleon describes, when Gen. Grant arrived from Savannah, at the battle of Shiloh, and immediately restored the order of battle. At precisely such a moment Gen. Rosekrans rode to the front at the grand attack on the Robinette bastion at Corinth, and again, when one wing of his army was rolled up and defeated at Murfreesboro, he gave his personal presence to rallying and directing his troops, while cannon shot fell like hail around him—his Chief of Staff, Col. Garescho, having his head blown off alongside of the commanding general. In this way Henry the Fourth behaved at Ivry; Gustavus Adolphus, at Bautzen; Charles the Twelfth, at Copenhagen, and a hundred other bloody battles; Cromwell in all his battles, and Napoleon whenever the tide of battle was against him. So far, indeed, did Napoleon carry this idea of the necessity of a general exposing himself, at certain times, that he threatened to expose himself in case his troops misbehaved, and always found it a potent argument to incite the soldiers to gallantry.

Of the merits of the strategists and the dashing fighting generals, there is no necessity to speak; but this is certain: unless a general is cautious and skillful in laying his plans and remorseless in his energetic fulfillment of them, he is not the man to bring this war to a close. Great slaughter can be tolerated if it produce great results; and it is necessary to risk much to gain considerable advantages. We need generals whose battles will be like those of Napoleon "the swell and dash of a mighty wave, before which the barriers yielded and the roaring flood poured onward, carrying all."

U. S. Circuit Court.—The Washington correspondence of the Sacramento Union, January 9th, says that the House Judiciary Committee has reported a bill to organize a tenth circuit for the Supreme Court, composed of the States of Oregon and California. The sessions of the Court are to be held in Portland, Oregon, and San Francisco, California, at the times when the U. S. District Court for Oregon and the Northern District of California are held, respectively. The Judge is to have $6,000 a year, and $1,000 for his attendance on the sittings at the Supreme Court of the United States, with the same pay for clerks and other officers which is allowed in other circuits of the Supreme Court. The Judge will probably be appointed from this coast.

Quartz.—The quartz-mill of Douthitt & Jewett, in Jackson county, is grinding out gold at the rate of $50 to the ton of rocks.

Gen. Butler's Justification.—In a speech at Philadelphia on the 7th of January Gen. Butler justifies himself for the execution of Mumford, for tearing down the Union colors at New Orleans in May last, on the following grounds:

After recurring to the incidents of the day, he said: The flag of the United States was raised upon the United States Mint, and after floating there a short time, was dragged down by a drunken gambler in the presence of the fleet in broad daylight. That symbol of our nationality, which we all reverence, was torn in shreds and every one that could tore off a piece as a trophy. That act, in its consequences, might have been most calamitous. The commander of the Union fleet had a right to suppose that the Mayor of the city had come to the conclusion to renew the contest, and the symbol of that renewal was the tearing down of the flag.

It might, as a military proposition have brought upon the city instant bombardment [applause], but, through the very proper caution of Commodore Farragut, a shot or two was fired, and no response made. Mark, now! It was not the fault of Mumford that New Orleans was not laid in ashes and men, women and children crushed beneath the shells of the Union fleet.

It was in mercy for the town that we should take hereafter, that I felt it necessary to punish Mumford according to the just laws of war, after the confession of guilt. Whether rightly or wrongly, the act still commends itself to my judgment. [Applause]. Feeling the utter worthlessness of the man that treason had attempted to exalt into a patriot, I was inclined to spare him. But that was not permitted.

The thugs, rowdies and gamblers assembled before the execution, and resolved that he should not be hanged. It became a question whether they ruled New Orleans or the Commanding General of the United States, and from that day there was never any question upon that subject. [Applause]

Message of the Governor of Ohio.—The following is all that has been printed on this coast in regard to the annual message of Gov. Tod of Ohio, which we take from a Cleveland dispatch of the 17th of January:

The message of Gov. Tod was delivered to the adjourned session of the Ohio Legislature yesterday. In referring to the yet "uncrushed rebellion," he urges the fulfillment of the duty which the crisis forces upon us. No cause was sufficient to justify a State in taking up arms against the General Government. Even had the authorities of the General Government interfered with the domestic institutions of Ohio or South Carolina, to the extent of introducing slavery in the former or excluding it from the latter, it would have been no cause to take up arms. This would not give the slightest pretext for armed resistance. But no such attempt was made or thought of, as the authors and leaders of the rebellion well know. To bring these men to the punishment they deserve, and to restore law and order, the people of Ohio are willing to bear any burdens which may be put upon them. Ohio has 115,000 volunteers, 60,000 of whom are in the field. 12,000 men have been drafted into the service, but part of these enlisted afterwards for three years. The balance have been diminished by various causes, until only about 2,400 have ultimately been drafted into the service.

The Government recommends a thorough reorganization of the militia and the establishment of a school for military instruction. The Governor also justifies the suspension of the writ of habeas corpus, advocates the passage of a law punishing resistance, and also a law allowing soldiers to vote. The cash balance in the State treasury on the 16th of November was $478,450.

Continuation of the Dalles and Portland Road.—It is in contemplation to extend the Dalles and Portland road, above Dalles, by the way of Des Chutes, Grand Ronde, and Umatilla Landing, to Walla Walla, by the bank of the Columbia. The old emigrant trail used to come down to the Columbia river at Grand Ronde Landing, and from thence follow its margin to Des Chutes, but it ceased to be used on account of some heavy sand banks which lay upon the lower terraces near the edge of the river. It is believed that, by cutting a road in places, the line of a road can be located so as to avoid these sand-banks and shorten the distance from Dalles to Walla Walla from thirty to forty miles. The proposed route will leave the Columbia, going up, at Wallula.

Horrible Accident.—Mr. Maxwell, says the Democrat, who lives near the Santiam river, in Linn County, about seven miles from Albany, lost a little daughter, only seventeen months old, by a shocking accident, on the 11th inst. Mrs. Maxwell had left a tub of boiling water on a stool or bench in the room where her little daughter was playing, while she was for a moment absent. Before her return, the child had pulled the tub over and was scalded so severely that she died that night.

To Expedite Coining.—Congress has passed an act to expedite the coinage of gold and silver at the U. S. Branch Mint at San Francisco. Hereafter refined gold will have the preference of that which is alloyed. This is forced upon the Mint because the facilities for refining are not equal to those for coining and heretofore all parcels were coined in the order of their arrival.

Removals and Appointments.—Mr. Rector's removal from our Indian Superintendency is said to have been caused by the squabbles among the Federal officials out here. Mr. Rector was offered up as a sacrifice to the Moloch of political discord. His successor, J. W. P. Huntington, has not yet been confirmed. Benjamin Simpson has been appointed Agent at Siletz in the place of B. R. Biddle, removed.

Sudden Death.—A Mr. Jones of Lebanon, Linn county, says the Democrat, was found dead on an island in the Santiam river, two miles below Lebanon, on the 17th inst. He had gone on to the island to drive off some cattle to the main land, fearing a rise in the river, and is supposed to have died from disease of the heart.

New Bridge.—J. B. White & Co. have built a new bridge across Rogue river in Jackson county, at Rock Point. The bridge is about one mile above the bridge which was swept away last winter, and is ten feet above the high-water mark of the great floods of that period.

A Virginian in Trouble.—An exchange contains an account of the trials and troubles of an Old Virginian in Europe, closing with his graduation in the English Bankrupt Court, which we copy:

He was described in the legal papers as William King Smith, formerly of No. 27 Golden Square, since of Fredericksburg in the State of Virginia, then of Half Moon street, Piccadilly, afterward of the Hotel du Louvre, Paris, next of Hatchard's Hotel, Piccadilly, and lastly of the Queen's Prison, where he was confined for debt. His debts amounted to 80,000; the property held as security was put down at $300,000; unfortunately for William King Smith, the latter lay in the counties of Kanawha and Fayette, in Virginia, and was partially under fire. It was understood that the bankrupt was willing to convey all his right, title and interest in the said demesne to his assignees, but they were profoundly puzzled to know how they should obtain possession of and enjoy the fruits of this conveyance, inasmuch as they had been led to believe that the territory in question was occupied alternately by the conflicting armies of America. The Court adjourned without final action.

The Internal Revenue.—The bill amending the Internal Revenue Law, contains the following section, which is of interest to this community:

Section 2. And be it further enacted, That the Commissioner of Internal Revenue shall be authorized and empowered, and is hereby authorized and empowered, to furnish and supply to the Assistant Treasurers or Collectors of the United States at San Francisco, State of California, and Portland, State of Oregon, with adhesive stamps, or stamped paper, vellum or parchment, according to the provisions of the internal revenue laws referred to in the preceding section, under such regulations and conditions as he may from time to time prescribe, and without requiring payment in advance therefor, anything in existing laws to the contrary notwithstanding; provided, that no greater commission shall be allowed than is now provided for by law.

Gov. Seymour's Loyalty.—The Troy Times relates the following incident, which occurred immediately after the inauguration of Gov. Seymour:

An interesting incident occurred at Albany during the reception ceremonies. A gentleman from this city, who recently lost a brother in the army, in shaking hands with Gov. Seymour, said to him impulsively and feelingly: "Governor, in the name of the buried dead and of desolated hearthstones, I beseech you to prove yourself a loyal Chief Magistrate of New York." The Governor replied with evident emotion—"I shall, sir." Let him adhere to the spirit of this declaration, and he will find that he has no more earnest adherents than those who opposed his election.

The Daily Oregonian.

CITY.

The MORNING OREGONIAN has a larger SUBSCRIPTION LIST than any other Daily published in this City.

Legal Tender Notes this Day—63 cents.

CIRCUIT COURT.—In the Circuit Court Saturday, 14th inst., the jury in the case of G. W. Vaughn vs. The City of Portland, found for the plaintiff in $1,000 damages.

Divorces were granted in the cases of Maria Barnes vs James D Barnes; Paulina Steinhauser vs. Nicholas Steinhauser and Hannah Cassle vs. William Cassle. The case of Joseph Sevor vs. Mary Sevor was continued.

All the indictments against J. P. Dennison were dismissed and defendant released.

THE MACADAMIZED ROAD.—The work on the Milwaukie and Portland Macadamized Road is progressingly favorably. About three-quarters of a mile of the heaviest grading is done, and one hundred men are employed on the work. During the last month, only about fifteen days work has been done, owing to the inclemency of the weather; but there is plenty of time yet left in which to do the work inside of the period agreed upon, and it will be done to a certainty.

A PORTLANDER.—F. M. Smith, member of the Assembly, from Butte county, California, whom Watrous attempted to bribe to vote for Phelps for United States Senator, was formerly a resident of this city.

COULD NOT MAKE IT.—The Columbia river boat did not attempt to go to the Cascades on Saturday, on account of the uncertainty of making the connection. She will doubtless be able to resume her regular trips to-day.

FAVORS.—We are under obligations to Barrett, of the News Depot, for Godey's Lady Book for February, and other favors.

GRAND RONDE LANDING.—The business at Grand Ronde Landing during the last month is indicative of considerable activity in the mining demand for merchandise. About four hundred animals have been loaded there in that time, and as many more are waiting for a favorable state of weather to make the trip to Auburn and Canyon City. The distance to the first-named place is about one hundred and fifty miles, and about one hundred and ten to the mines at Canyon City. A hotel has been established at the Landing, and a new road to intersect the Walla Walla and Dalles wagon-road, about twelve miles in length, has been laid out. It avoids a section of the old road which was covered with yielding sand. There are many new improvements projected at the Landing and one new house, for merchandise, has been completed and will shortly be occupied with a full stock of goods. At the Grand Ronde Landing, the O. S. N. Co.'s boats change freight during extremely low water; the river not being navigable for their largest craft from that point to Wallula.

NOTICE TO DISTRICT CLERKS OF COMMON SCHOOLS.—According to the school law, passed October 16, 1862, "Districts shall not be entitled to their proportion of the school fund at the disposal of the County School Superintendent unless they shall report to him by the first Monday of March of each year, and shall have had a school taught in their District of three months' duration in each year."

DEMOCRATIC RULE.—It is a boast of the Democrats that the Government has been for a large portion of the time since its foundation under the rule of that party, and that the country has grown up under its regime. The country advanced in prosperity, influence, wealth and business, under all Administrations until the last, and that was Democratic. The Albany Journal thus sums up the responsibilities which must be shouldered by that Administration:

1. Treason was hatched under and by a Democratic Administration.
2. Our arsenals and forts were sacked, and traitors were armed, under and by a Democratic Administration.
3. The Union was severed under a Democratic Administration.
4. Only Democratic States are in rebellion.
5. Only men who have always acted with the Democratic party are in arms against the Government.
6. Every Republican, and every Republican State, stands true to the Union.
7. A Democratic President declared that there was no power to coerce a rebel State.

Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam.—For the cure of long-standing Coughs, bad Colds, Bronchitis, as well as CONSUMPTION, this medicine is invaluable. Its peculiar combination is the result of experience, and an intimate knowledge of the cause of those diseases, and the certificates of remarkable cures is sufficient proof of its superiority.

REDINGTON & CO.,
General Agents for the Pacific Coast,

Coughs. The sudden changes of our climate are sources of PULMONARY, BRONCHIAL and ASTHMATIC AFFECTIONS. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stages of the disease, recourse should at once be had to "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Lozenges, let the Cold, Cough, or Irritation of the Throat be ever so slight, as by this precaution a more serious attack may be effectually warded off. PUBLIC SPEAKERS and SINGERS will find them effectual for clearing and strengthening the voice. See advertisement. dec16daw3m

Storage.—THE FIRE-PROOF STONE WAREHOUSE, opposite Umatilla House, is the only building, not made of wood at the Dalles, where goods are taken on STORAGE. All other houses that take goods on storage are wooden buildings and in exposed parts of the town, liable to the risk of fire. The subscriber assures his patrons that his charges are but $1.50 per ton per month storage and although storage in wooden buildings is $1.00 per ton, yet the public cannot fail to perceive the advantages the subscriber possesses over other warehouses of this place.

Dalles, Jan 20, 1863 1m RASEY BIVEN

White's Fever and Ague Drops.—For the cure of AGUE, PANAMA FEVER, NEURALGIA and GENERAL DEBILITY.

This medicine has been used in private practice for many years with great success. Indeed, in no instance has it failed to effect a speedy cure, in Ague especially, one bottle having been found sufficient in most cases and in none are more than two bottles required.

A great number of testimonials could be given to verify these statements, but the proprietor prefers relying upon the merits of the medicine alone. A cure is guaranteed in nine cases out of ten.

Prepared only by ROBERT WHITE, Chemist and Druggist, Main street, Placerville and Broadway, Upper Placerville. For sale by all respectable Druggists throughout the State.

The GREAT SUCCESS [illegible] CENTURY
[illegible] PRACTICAL MEDICINE

[illegible] Mutual Nature,
[illegible] the
[illegible] Nerves and
[illegible] Disease.

THAT THIS [illegible] SUCCESSFULLY APPLIED [illegible] to the great [illegible] all [illegible] and [illegible] that great [illegible] healing [illegible] action.

Too Much Cannot be Said

This phase [illegible] that in health there is an exact equilibrium [illegible] electric principles; and should [illegible] negatively electrified [illegible] changed—[illegible] the [illegible] system. [illegible] and in order that the [illegible] to remedial agents, we must first [illegible].

Awaken the Magnetic Life within us

[illegible] B [illegible] magnetic or electrical [illegible] health [illegible] take advantage of [illegible] attention to the subject that [illegible].

No Compromise with Disease.

Give the body strength [illegible] will relieve here [illegible] the stomach, liver, heart [illegible] active by ELECTRICAL [illegible] the palsied, the nervous, [illegible] the dyspeptic and the invalid revive under its benign influence.

To the Ladies of California.

Dr. Van Zandt's success with the complaints of women, both in family and other [illegible] correct views of the origin of all their maladies. Ladies can consult him with entire confidence as he is no speculator upon human ills—but is proved [illegible] the only member of the legitimate profession in California who is really successful in removing those ills which are the peculiar province of the sex. His high [illegible] delicately attuned nervous organism, together with their great sympathetic life renders him [illegible] those silent complainings which they bear so patiently and so long. No special disquietude need longer afflict our home circles, for he can awaken the stricken energies, restore the wonted tonicity of the body, awaken the [illegible] and deep feelings, arrest the drains which cause so much anxiety, cure those [illegible] so long.

Baffled the Skill of Physicians.

Devoted [illegible] life [illegible] on dyspeptic nervous headache, sinking at the stomach, wandering pains, wasting away of strength, extreme debility and lifelessness, hectic cough, sleeplessness, unpleasant dreams and that general depression. This is [illegible], which goes to render her life a misery and death a boon. Dr. Van Zandt, with his new method of exciting the Electro-Galvanic current, together with his remedial measures which are adapted to the necessities of California, will assure you of a complete and radical recovery of all bodily and mental infirmities, and will restore you to usefulness, and spare you a blessing to your family and society.

All the world over wherever disease exists, whether special to the soil and climate or common to all regions—epidemic or casual, acute or chronic, contagious or non-contagious—it is as necessary to restore the ELECTRO-GALVANIC equilibrium, especially in California, as it is to give food to the starving. This statement is based upon a series of facts extending through many years, and verified by hundreds of patients, so that to prop up a [illegible] no rule of experience no result of any well known cause, rests upon more secure and unassailable foundations than those which underlie the world-wide reputation of Electricity for the cure of all nervous states of the body, faulty digestion, mental and physical debility or prostration, coughs, asthma, wandering pains of a rheumatic, gouty or neuralgic character, and all forms of disease, the result of scrofulous or [illegible] habit of body.

None Need Despair of Relief.

If you have ulcers which will not heal—pains that cannot be removed—melancholy which you cannot shake off—loss of power which you cannot regain—depression of spirits which weigh you down—wakefulness that knows no sleeping—business that languishes for want of energy—a [illegible] which no society can [illegible]—suspicion which no assurance can allay—fly to Dr. Van Zandt, for his great success and the safety with which he administers his new method of electrical excitation, together with his remedies, which are adapted to the requirements of climate and constitution will assure you of a complete and radical removal of all bodily and mental infirmities, within the scope of science and man to remove.

The Eye and Ear Diseases.

It must not be forgotten by the eye and ear sufferers that Dr. Van Zandt has made these afflictions an especial study and that he is the only Surgeon in our State who has a diploma for that branch of practice. Very many of the eye and ear troubles are purely deranged nervous action, and are cured by his electro-galvanic battery—as amaurosis, squinting, cataract, floating specks before the vision, twitching of the eyelids, nervous deafness, roaring and buzzing noises in the ears, giddiness, etc. All operations successfully done on these delicate organs of sense.

DR. BAKER'S PAIN PANACEA.

Is composed entirely of healing gums, and vegetable oil and herbs. It is perfectly safe for the most delicate to use. I can most sincerely say that I have never known any, however delicate, to be injured by it in the least. I will continue to ask the afflicted, who have not used it, to try it for the following diseases: If they are not satisfied with its healing properties, the money will be cheerfully refunded by the agent where the medicine is for sale.

If you have pain in the stomach or bowels, try a dose of Pain Panacea internally, bathe externally over the parts affected, and you will at once restore the proper action and relieve the pain.

If you have a Bruise or Wound, bathe it well with the Pain Panacea four times a day. It will relieve the pain, and take out all the poison, and heal the wound in a short time.

If you are suffering from Neuralgia or Rheumatism, apply the Pain Panacea freely, and take a dose of it internally, morning, noon and night; it will not only ease the pain, but will remove the cause of the disease.

If you have the Dyspepsia, and your food distresses your stomach after eating, take a dose of Pain Panacea after each meal.

If you have a Cankered or Sore Mouth or Throat, apply the Pain Panacea, to the affected parts, and gargle the mouth or throat three or four times a day.

If you have the Diarrhœa, or a relaxed state of the bowels, take a dose of Pain Panacea, and they will soon be restored. If you have a painful swelling, bathe the parts freely, and you will soon relieve pain, and the [illegible] be reduced.

If you have a severe toothache, apply the Pain Panacea on a piece of cotton and bathe gum at the same time; it will stop the pain instantly.

If you have a pain in the Breast, Side, Back or Kidneys, bathe parts affected morning and night; at the same time take a dose of the Panacea internally.

If a Mother has a caked breast, apply the Panacea as hot as it can be borne.

If you feel chilly or cold, as though you were going to have a fever, take a dose of Panacea.

If you have a wound, cut or galls upon your horse, apply the Pain Panacea; it will take out all the [illegible] and heal the sore in a short tim,

Message of the Governor of Kentucky.—In his annual message, delivered on the 3d of January, Gov. Robinson, of Kentucky, calls the attention of the Legislature to the fact that it is impossible for that State to accept the offer of "compensated emancipation," without calling a State Convention to amend the Constitution. He then goes on to say:

I have thought it becoming my official station to say what I have in relation to so much of the proclamation as looked to an admission or rejection of it by our State. But Kentucky is equally involved in the material branch of the proclamation which undertakes, by a Presidential edict, to emancipate, instantly, all the slaves of the rebellious States. These may, without an exaggeration of their numbers, be set down at four millions. Abstracting them from the aggregate of the slave population of the United States, and there remains a mere fragment in Delaware, not over one hundred thousand in Maryland, about fifty thousand in Missouri, and, by the last census, two hundred and twenty-five thousand in Kentucky. So that it is apparent that Kentucky has the largest residuary interest, supposing that the proclamation is enforced in the Southern States. That the value of this interest must be reduced to nothing by the successful operation of the President's ultimatum, is too manifest for argument. Is there any reason why Kentucky should be subjected to this indirect, but no less fatal, blow? Is there anything in the Constitution of the United States that warranted it? And does any subsequent indorsement by a partisan Congress relieve it from its original usurpation? I think that one may search in vain for any such power given to the President in the Constitution of the United States; and any exercise of powers not granted therein is an attempt to save the Union out of and not in it.

Kentucky and all loyal States hold it to be a fundamental doctrine that the Union, if saved at all, must be saved in conformity to the Constitution and not in violation of it. This truth is so clear that argument is superfluous. No one at all versed in the spirit or the letter of our institutions can seriously contend for such powers as the President undertakes to exercise in his proclamation. The assumption of them has alarmed the American mind; and the contemplation of the result of them has grieved the American heart. Disguise the purpose as you may, it is in truth an inducement to servile insurrection, by giving to it a probability of success in forbidding the army to interfere. I will not stop here to depict the horrors of a servile war—imagination can conceive of them—no pen can paint them. Even the sanguinary Catiline, with the sense of the horrors of a civil war, and scrupulously regarding the dignity of Roman citizenship, rejected the aid of slaves, although they flocked in great numbers to his standard. And those slaves were of the same generic root with the Romans, and many of them educated in the arts and arms. This historic truth might have been heeded with profit by the President, and the force of it immensely increased from the fact that the "American of African descent" are the progeny of a brutal ancestry, and of a different race from our own.

But suppose his plan succeeds so far as to give liberty to four millions of slaves, and that it is effected without servile insurrection, what then is to be done with them? Are they to be permitted to choose their own domicil? And if they are, may not some come into Kentucky in vast masses, and as effectually destroy the institution here as if our State had not been excepted out of the immediate operation of the manifesto? Most assuredly such would be the result. If the migratory wave comes this way how can it be [illegible]? According to the President's view it will be an effort at freedom, and the army is forbidden to interfere. If, on the other hand, it is the intention to permit them to remain where they are, and all the landed [illegible] is to be forfeited, will it not all be given to them as its lawful inheritors? What, then, is to become of the white race? Either extermination or removal must follow, or if they remain they will be reduced to the most abject poverty, and instead of raising the standard of the "ignorant whites," as some call them, it will reduce all to that level.

But the saddest and most deplorable effect of the proclamation will be to fire the whole South into one burning mass of inextinguishable hate and study for revenge, and to utterly [illegible] all hope of restoring the Union. This war was undertaken for that purpose alone—it was to put down the rebellion in order that the ancient limits of the nation and the integrity of the Constitution might be maintained. But what hope can there be of bringing about such desirable results, if the attempt is made to strip the entire South bare of all rights, real, personal and mixed? It will produce such a spirit of antagonism—such a fierce and uncompromising resistance that no after propositions will be heeded, and will of necessity compel the Southern people to fight as those only can fight for their homes and their families and all that makes life dear. And then, too, what a feature does it present to the occupants of the Mississippi valley! Of what use will be that great artery of our commerce when it leads us through desolated fields, or to the barren agriculture of a lazy, ignorant race, who produce nothing to tempt enterprise, and whose sole idea of liberty is to live without labor? The entire upper region of the Ohio and Mississippi is vitally interwoven in the defeat of this monstrous edict. It will reach to every farm and workshop of that vast region, as it will destroy the best workshop for whatever the industry of the people might produce. I will not pursue these views any further—they are suggestions that must sink deep into the mind of every statesman.

But by far the most alarming aspect in which the proclamation presents itself is its usurpation of the powers of the Government upon the specious pretext that the President "sincerely believes it to be an act of justice, warranted by the Constitution upon 'military necessity.'" If military necessity is not to be measured by constitutional limits, we are no longer a free people. The sword has become paramount and the civil authority subordinate. This monstrous doctrine has already received an indignant rebuke from the people themselves. The great States of New York, Ohio, Indiana, New Jersey and Illinois, in their recent elections, have put their veto upon it; and later returns indicate that Connecticut and other parts of New England will soon add their emphatic condemnation. Indeed it is apparent that the people are aroused to a sense of the danger that threatens their constitutional liberties, and will in good time come to the rescue. Until that day, which is unquestionably near at hand, arrives, it becomes Kentucky to maintain the position she has hitherto occupied. Let her not abate one jot or tittle of her opposition to secession or to abolition, but let her poise herself upon the great truth that man is capable of self-government, and that God designs this country for a great, a free and a happy people, and shape her policy to that great end. In the meantime the Legislature would do well to follow the example of our Kentucky fathers, and place upon her records a protest against the proclamation, and reaffirm the great principles of American liberty—State and national.

Proclamation by the Governor.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, PORTLAND, OREGON,
January 6, 1863.

By the President of the United States, through Brigadier General George Wright, commanding the Department of the Pacific, and Brigadier General Benjamin Alvord, commanding the District of Oregon, I have been requested to raise six additional companies, required to complete the 1st Regiment of Cavalry, Oregon Volunteers. They will be needed the coming Spring on the frontiers of this State and Washington Territory, and for an expedition against the Snake Indians, who have so long been mercilessly engaged in robbing emigrants and murdering our fellow-citizens. I cannot doubt that the citizens of Oregon, who have always promptly responded to any demand for their military services, will in like manner respond to this call; thereby showing their loyalty to the Government, and aiding in chastising marauding bands of Indians which infest our frontiers.

The enlisted men, when mounted, will be supplied with horses by the United States, it being understood that they will be mounted or not, as shall be deemed advisable by the Government.

Propositions to raise a whole company, which will furnish their own horses and horse equipments, may be entertained. The men are in such cases entitled to forty cents a day for the use and risk of their horses and horse equipments.

Each company will consist of one hundred enlisted men, and when mustered into the service of the United States to serve for three years, unless sooner discharged.

Recruiting offices will be immediately opened at Portland, Dalles City, and perhaps at other places. By the Governor,

ADDISON C. GIBBS.

CYRUS A. REED, Adjutant General.
